It will be noticed that the largest number of births occurred in March, (45), and the lowest number was in December, (19). The largest number of deaths occurred in February, (35), and the lowest number in October, (7). The above list was compiled from the monthly reports of Health Officer Ogden as presented to the board of health.

During the year the board of health held but four regular meetings. The board is scheduled to meet the first Friday of every month but it did not follow notes, one of $900 and one of $1,000. the schedule last year.

A curious thing in connection with the report is the fact that during the year just 14 more males were born than females and just 14 more males died than females, while the total deaths just equals the births of females, 196 There were just 210 more births than deaths or exactly the number of births of males during the year. The difference between the deaths and births of the females is 105, exactly the same as the deaths of males. Another thing is that there was just twice as many males born as died. In the month of December there was exactly the same number of births as deaths (19), and they were similarly divided, males, 9; females, 10. New Cal. prunes, extra large, 3 lbs

How Will 45 and 15 Do?

Here is an odd little piece of dog gerel which appeared in The Gentle man's Magazine 15 years ago, which gave rise to considerable discussion. Correspondents seem to have been pretty evenly divided between those who claimed that there were several answers and such as maintained that the problem was unsolvable:

FAVORS ENGLAND.

Bishop Tayler, the eminent missionary for at least a week. of the Methodist Episcopal church, who has had a long and varied experience in Africa, says of the present conflict be- falling about two feet yesterday eventween the British and the Boers: "The best thing that could happen would be the resolving of the different states into one republic, under British protection. This would be best not only for the peace and civilization of the land and extending the gospel without restriction and with more protection than is en joyed at present. If the British are in the ascendant, the principles which triumphed in the United States, Canada and the Australias will triumph there also. If the Dutch gain the ascendency, the outlook is not so bright."

PICK 'EM OUT.

The News Review is Republican from center to circumference. Why? Because we believe that from the Republican party comes the greatest good to the greatest mass-the bone and sinew of the Nation; the so called common people, the workers and the toilers, the only foundation upon which a Republican form of government can safely be builded. Every GREAT party must have GREAT leaders; men who are fit to assume control and leadership; men who are worthy of honor and trust. We need such men, even now, and need them for positions of trust in connection the in this city, if we can but prevail upon them to accept office. It is the duty of every good citizen to assist in picking them out and persistently and urgently insist upon them devoting their time to insist upon them devoting their time to the public good and the public welfare. Take this thought home with you, Republican voter, and study it carefully and conscientiously. Do your full duty at the primaries. Don't be criminally careless and thus permit bad and unreliable and incompetent men to receive the nomination, and then permit your love of party to vote for such unworthy primary election. men. Do your duty before and at the primaries, and place men in nomination whom you can gladly work and vote

HIS START IN LIFE.

A STORY THAT A DISCUSSION ON RELIGION BROUGHT OUT.

It Involved a Christian and an Infidel and a Most Remarkable Coincidence, and the Narrative Pointed a Moral as Well.

other day in the Busy Men's Lunch club, and old Parmesan, who is senior warden of St. Pecunia's church and therefore constitutes himself a defender of the faith, remarked, "You may say what you like, gentlemen, but a religious man is more apt to help those who need it than an intidel."

"I am a firm believer in Christianity," remarked Bilson, who has made a million or so in the Swamp during the last few years, "but I take exception to that statement. When it comes to helping a fellow who is down, it's about an even toss between a Christian and an infidel. You doubt it?" he continued as he saw old Parmesan shake his head. "Well, to prove what I say I will give you an episode in my own life. I came to New York in 1873 with no capital but a country made suit of clothes and a common school education. I was a lank looking young fellow, with 'hayseed' written all over me: but, like many another raw country lad, I was irresistibly attracted to the city, where I soon expected to strike the combination that would lead to fortune and fame. But before long my main thought was to keep from starving. I could get no work, and nobody would listen to me when I asked for it. I tried to keep up my courage, but in my heart I would have given anything to be back on the old farm again.

"Well, one day I grew especially desperate. The papers were full of the triumphant success of 'Billy, the Converted Bum,' who was holding revivals all over the country. And I asked myself why I, a clean, decent young fellow, who had never been a 'bum,' should be allowed to starve, while 'Billy' was living on the fat of the land. At first the wild thought came into my head to start out myself on a career of cr-1 mean of revivalism under the name of 'Charley, the Converted Boy Fiend, and rake in the shekels like 'Billy.' But somehow I felt I couldn't get down as low as that. A brilliant thought struck me, however. I would state the whole thing in an advertisement, more to relieve my feelings than with any hope of getting an answer.

"So I scraped enough money together to insert the following in one of the papers: 'If I were a drunken "bum" just taken out of the gutter, scores of kind religious people would stretch out a hand to help me. But as I am only a decent and self respecting young valuable snap shots had bad luck with man, with no vices or bad habits, I am her first pictures. There were funny without work and starving in this streaks of white all through them great, cruel city.' And I added my when there was any picture at all, and of Columbus, which was exhibited at initials and address.

"The next day I called to see if there might possibly be an answer and got amateur who assisted in developing two. The first one I opened read as her first negatives and who took the follows: 'I was touched by your strange advertisement, as I myself was once in the same position. I found help through a noble Christian man, and if you will call and see me I will prove out either good for nothing or with to you that there is a Christian who is able and willing to belp you if you are worthy. Ask to see me personally, as I am sorry to say my partner is an infidel, and, though a good man, he might not be disposed to look at your case so kindly.

"My heart jumped with joy on reading this kind letter, and for a little while I forgot the other one. But I soon opened it and read as follows: 'I was deeply stirred by the undertone of despair in your advertisement, as I was once as friendless as you are. I found a start in life through a noble sist the temptation of seeing how nice man who, like myself, was an unbeliever. Ask to see me personally. as my partner is a Christian, and, though a good man, he might not be disposed to look on your case kindly.'

"Wonderful coincidence, wasn't it? But the most wonderful part of the story is yet to be told. These two men were partners. Each one of them was trying to do a good deed without the knowledge of the other.

"The end of the story? Well, that was interesting and remarkable too. After trying in vain to decide to which of these two gentlemen I should make myself known I determined to see them together and read the two letters

bridge Student's Favorite Drink.

There is a bill for groceries, etc., furnished for an undergraduate at Cambridge in the year 1788. The bill contains one or two items of furniture. Apparently the undergraduate took over rooms already furnished at a valuation, and certain articles had to be bought new, such as a hearth brush, a pail, a mop and a "Holland gotch." One knows not what this means, but it cost 2 shillings 9 pence (43 cents).

The undergraduate would seem at first sight to have consumed tea in a most reckless manner. On Oct. 24 he is charged 2 shillings for Hyson and 1 shilling 6 pence for Congo. On Nov. 1 he is charged 2 shillings for tea and business life will not permit the average on the same day, which looks odd, 6 man to take frequent outdoor exercise. shillings 6 pence for tea. #### SOME COVETED SCRAWLS.

Rare Autographs For Which Immense Prices Have Been Paid.

The most prized autographs in the world are those of Shakespeare. Only seven are claimed to exist, three signatures to his will (each with a different spelling), two to conveyances of property, one in the folio edition of his plays (doubtful) and one in a Tudor translation of Montaigne. This last is in the British museum and cost over 3,000 guineas.

One thousand guineas was the price given by the late Mr. Alfred Morrison of Carlton House terrace for an autograph letter written by Marie Stuart to the archbishop of Guise. This and two other letters (one to the pope and the other to the king of France) were written by the unfortunate queen of Scots on the morning of her execution. The letter to the French king was destroyed during the days of the terror, while that to the pope is still preserved at the Vatican.

The well known bookseller Bernard Quaritch gave £1,000 for an autograph the World's fair at Chicago. A Chicago autograph dealer is said to have offered to give $100,000, or over £20,-000, for a genuine autograph of Shakespeare if brought to him within a year of making his offer. It was a safe bluff, for since the tragic fate of Chatterton no forger has cared to tackle the quaint scrawl of the Bard of Avon.-Collier's Weekly.

Jimmy and the Baby.

Jimmy's mother kept cows and sold milk. Jimmy himself had nothing to do with the cows, though sometimes he used to carry the milk pail to his mother's customers. The customers all liked Jimmy, with his round, freckled face and bashful grin, and they used to ask him how business was, for, although Jimmy was only 13 years old. he had a business. He made coffinsbaby coffins-and sold them to the undertaker. They were nice pine coffins, with all the edges carefully joined. Jimmy received 50 cents for each one.

One day Jimmy stopped at the house of one of his mother's customers to leave some milk. A little boy met him at the door.

"We've got a new baby!" said the little boy. "Would you like to see it?" Jimmy nodded. The little boy's aunt laughingly led Jimmy to the cradle where the new baby was. Jimmy gazed at the infant for some time, speechless with admiration or some such emotion.

"What do you think of it, Jimmy?"

asked the aunt. Jimmy grinned.

POSITIONS IN SLEEP.

HOW VICTIMS OF INSOMNIA MAY WOO SWEET SLUMBER.

The Way One Should Lie in Bed In Order to Obtain Natural Repose. Various Ailments and the Postures Best Adapted to Them.

Positions that woo sleep in victims of insomnia is an interesting study made by a well known metropolitan physician, Whitman V. White of Brooklyn. Dr. White is a specialist on nervous diseases and in a mild but emphatic manner scores his professional brethren for their free administration of narcotics. He denounces the practice as unnecessarily taxing on the disorganized systems of insomnia patients in many cases. In his own experience he has found a simple method adequate without weakening after effects likely to produce increased symptoms.

"Through a study based on the laws of physiology in human anatomy extending over a period of a dezen or more years I have learned that under certain physical malconditions," said the physician, "the subject may be given relief by assuming positions at rest that will from the ease afforded the affected parts serve as a natural somnolent agency. It will be readily understood that a constrained position will tend to prevent natural repose, while a comfortable one will woo it. But what may in most cases seem to be a position of ease may in reality be the reverse.

"For instance, a dyspeptic will rest more easily lying on the right side for the simple reason that in that position the food naturally gravitates out of the stomach and into the intestines, while if lying on the opposite side that organ, in its weakened state, has to perform an uphill process of digestion. This is amply sufficient to produce insomnia.

"Lying flat on the back, with the limbs relaxed, would seem to secure the greatest amount of rest for the muscular system, whether in good health or illness. Such is the position advocated by physicians generally in the most exhausting diseases, and it is hailed as a sign of rapid recovery when a patient exhibits an inclination to turn on either side. But at the same time there are several disadvantages pastors of the First Congregational in the supine posture which impair or embarrass sleep, whether in case of writer of theological works, died in this severe illness or ordinary health. Thus city. He was born in New Ipswich, N. in weakly states of the heart or blood vessels and certain morbid conditions of the brain the blood seems to gravitate to the back of the head and to accordingly produce troublesome dreams. I believe that much of that weakening delirium which the physician has were not correct. to contend with in treating serious maladies is often occasioned in this

It may not be sufficient to cause pain and yet be such a strain as to prevent perfect ease. The result is unconscious restlessness, which is the producer of in-

"People who have contracted chests cannot sleep well lying upon their backs. This rule applies especially to those who have suffered with pleurisy and retain adhesions of the lungs. They will find it easier to get to sleep upon the right side and that their somnolent rest will do them more good if they observe this advice. Furthermore, the habit of lying on the back is the creator of snoring, which much belabors sleep and prevents the subject from receiving the full benefit of its recuperating effects.

"It is desirable, therefore, in all cases to lie on the side, and in the absence of son. special diseases rendering it more desirable to lie on the weak side, which leaves the strong lung free to expand, the right side should be chosen. A glance at any plate of the visceral anatomy will show that when the body is thus placed the food in the process of digestion is greatly aided in its passage from the stomach into the intestines. Here the principle of gravitation directly applies. Then the fact that the stomach doesn't compress the upper portion of the intestines is still another advantage to be gained from lying on the right side when sleep anism is under serious consideration.

"In conclusion, I wish to refer to some injurious eccentricities, or fads, in sleeping which I have observed. A wealthy woman once came to me for treatment for bad dreams of the order commonly called nightmare. Upon making inquiry I discovered that she was in the habit of lying at rest with her arms thrown up over her head, a position greatly to be deprecated, although it will induce sleep in per sons who have weak lungs. The cir. culation is thereby made stronger in the extremities, and the head and neck and muscles of the chest are drawn up and relaxed by the shoulders." Philadelphia Times.

Lungs and Long Life.

One of the most remarkable cases of longevity on record was that of an Englishman, born in 1483, whose delicate appearance made all the doctors give him up when he was in the cradle. His chest was so narrow, says the report, that he seemed to have difficulty in breathing. Well, this young moribund, condemned by the doctors to die in short order, died in 1651 at the age of 169. He saw the reign of ten kings.

Secundi Hango, consul of Venice at Smyrna, measured only 57 centimeters around the chest, and one of his lungs was diseased. Nevertheless be lived to the age of 115 years. He was married five times and had 49 children. When he was 100 years old, he got his wisdom teeth. When he was 110, his hair turned black again. At 112 his eyebrows and his beard turned black.

DEATHS OF LAST YEAR

Compiled From the Reports of the Health Officer.

ONE HUNDRED AND NINETY-SIX

Occurred In the City, While There Were 406 Births Recorded -- The Largest Number of Deaths Occurred In February and the Births In March.

During the year ending Dec. 31, 1899, 196 deaths occurred in the city and 406 births are recorded. The deaths are divided as follows: Males, 105; females. 91. The births: Males, 210; females, 196.

Taken by the month the deaths re sulted as follows: January, 24; males, 12; females, 12. February, 35; males, 16; females, 19. March, 12; males, 3; females, 9. April, 16; males, 11; females, 5. May, 11; males, 5; females, 6. June, 14; males, 10; females, 4. July, 19; males, 9; females, 10. August, 11; males, 8; females, 3. September, 15; males, 11; females, 4. October, 7; males, 5; females, 2. November, 13; males, 6; females, 7. December, 19; males, 9; females, 10.

The births were as follows: January, 27; males, 13; females, 14. February. $6; males, 20; females, 16. March, 45; males, 24; females, 21. April, 34; males, 20; females, 14. May, 41; males, 23; females, 18. June, 32; males, 16; females, 16. July, 33; males, 17; females 16. August, 42; males, 25; females, 17. September, 32; males, 15; females, 17 October, 36; males, 14; females, 22; November, 29; males, 14; females, 15; December, 19; males, 9; females 10.

It will be noticed that the largest number of births occurred in March, (45), and the lowest number was in December, (19). The largest number of deaths occurred in February, (35), and the lowest number in October, (7). The above list was compiled from the monthly reports of Health Officer Ogden as presented to the board of health.

During the year the board of health held but four regular meetings. The board is scheduled to meet the first Friday of every month but it did not follow the schedule last year.

A curious thing in connection with the report is the fact that during the year just 14 more males were born than females and just 14 more males died than females, while the total deaths just equals the births of females, 196 There were just 210 more births than deaths or exactly the number of births of males during the year. The difference between the deaths and births of the females is 105, exactly the same as the deaths of males. Another thing is that there was just twice as many males born as died. In the month of December there was exactly the same number of births as deaths (19), and they were similarly divided, males, 9; females, 10.

How Will 45 and 15 Do?

Here is an odd little piece of dog gerel which appeared in The Gentle man's Magazine 15 years ago, which gave rise to considerable discussion. Correspondents seem to have been pretty evenly divided between those who claimed that there were several answers and such as maintained that the problem was unsolvable:

> When first the marriage knot was tied Betwixt my wife and me. My age did hers as tar exceed

> As three times three does three But when ten years and half ten years We man and wife had been Her age came up as near to mine

HIS START IN LIFE.

A STORY THAT A DISCUSSION ON RELIGION BROUGHT OUT.

It Involved a Christian and an Infidel and a Most Remarkable Coincidence, and the Narrative Pointed a Moral as Well.

The question of religion came up the other day in the Busy Men's Lunch club, and old Parmesan, who is senior warden of St. Pecunia's church and therefore constitutes himself a defender of the faith, remarked, "You those who need it than an intidel."

ty," remarked Bilson, who has made a million or so in the Swamp during the last few years, "but I take exception at the last. to that statement. When it comes to helping a fellow who is down, it's about an even toss between a Christian and an infidel. You doubt it?" he continued as be saw old Parmesan shake his head. "Well, to prove what I say I will give you an episode in my own life. I came to New York in 1873 with no capital but a country made suit of clothes and a common school education. I was a lank looking young | Baldwin apple tree, with the half hull fellow, with 'hayseed' written all over me; but, like many another raw country lad, I was irresistibly attracted to the city, where I soon expected to strike the combination that would lead to fortune and fame. But before long my main thought was to keep from starving. I could get no work, and nobody would listen to me when I asked for it. I tried to keep up my courage, but in my heart I would have given anything to be back on the old farm again.

"Well, one day I grew especially desperate. The papers were full of the triumphant success of 'Billy, the Converted Bum.' who was holding revivals all over the country. And I asked myself why I, a clean, decent young fellow, who had never been a 'bum,' should be allowed to starve, while 'Billy' was living on the fat of the. land. At first the wild thought came into my head to start out myself on a career of cr-I mean of revivalism under the name of 'Charley, the Converted Boy Fiend,' and rake in the shekels like 'Billy.' But somehow I felt I couldn't get down as low as that. A brilliaut thought struck me, however. I would state the whole thing in an advertisement, more to relieve my feelings than with any hope of getting an answer.

"So I scraped enough money together to insert the following in one of the papers: 'If I were a drunken "bum" just taken out of the gutter, scores of kind religious people would stretch out a hand to help me. But as I am long ago and endeavored to get some only a decent and self respecting young without work and starving in this great, cruel city.' And I added my initials and address.

"The next day I called to see if there might possibly be an answer and got two. The first one I opened read as follows: 'I was touched by your strange advertisement, as I myself was once in the same position. I found help through a noble Christian man, and if you will call and see me I will prove to you that there is a Christian who is able and willing to help you if you are worthy. Ask to see me personally, as I am sorry to say my partner is an infidel, and, though a good man, he might not be disposed to look at your case so kindly.

"My heart jumped with joy on reading this kind letter, and for a little while I forgot the other one. But I soon opened it and read as follows: 'I of despair in your advertisement, as I was once as friendless as you are. I found a start in life through a noble man who, like myself, was an unbeliever. And if you will call and see me I will prove to you that there is an unbeliever who is both able and willing to give you a start in life if you are worthy. Ask to see me personally. as my partner is a Christian, and, though a good man, he might not be disposed to look on your case kindly.'

"Wonderful coincidence, wasn't it? But the most wonderful part of the story is yet to be told. These two men were partners. Each one of them was trying to do a good deed without the knowledge of the other.

"The end of the story? Well, that was interesting and remarkable too. After trying in vain to decide to which of these two gentlemen I should make myself known I determined to see them together and read the two letters to them. I did so, and you ought to have seen the look of blank surprise that came over the faces of both men as they learned that, though differing so widely in creed, they were at one in acknowledging the religion of humanity. They were silent for a few momehts, and then the Christian, with tears in his eyes, grasped the band of his partner and said:

"Brother, I have wronged you, for I have learned that, without knowing it. you are not far from the kingdom of heaven."

" 'It is I who have wronged you,' exclaimed his partner, 'in assuming that you would not obey the teaching of may say what you like, gentlemen, but your Master to feed the hungry and a religious man is more apt to help clothe the naked. Let us hereafter live as brothers indeed, even though we "I am a firm believer in Christiani. may not be able to profess the same creed. And may the unknown God whom ignorantly we worship accept us

"These two good men gave me a start and were my dearest friends until they died. The moral of it all? Well, I think there is more goodness In the world than can be enshriped in any creed. Lowever true."-New York Tribune.

One warm midsummer day Steve found himself seated under the old of a red hearted watermelon in his lap. Old Mr. B., busy with the other half, paused now and then to ask Steve about his new job, how many cigars he smoked in a day, what they cost and what he paid for his fine clothes. Prestalled his boy on the road-conductor, brakeman or what?

"They call me the general freight agent, father," said Steve.

"That's a mighty big name, Steve." "Yes, father; it's rather a big job, too, for me."

"But ye don't do it all, Steve. Ye must have hands to help you load and unload?"

"Oh. yes, I have a lot of help!"

"And the company pays them all?"

"Yes." "How much do they pay you, Steve-

A girl who took up photography not valuable snap shots had bad luck with man, with no vices or bad habits. I am her first pictures. There were funny streaks of white all through them when there was any picture at all, and she couldn't imagine bow they came there. Neither could an experienced amateur who assisted in developing her first negatives and who took the usual precautions in loading the camera and taking the plates.

"I can't imagine what is the matter," he said as plate after plate came out either good for nothing or with only a little of the picture visible. "Those ought to have been good

"Neither can i." said the girl. "They looked all nice and smooth and white if that is the way they ought to look."

"Looked all right!" exclaimed her instructor in dismay. "You hadn't looked at them before we put them in the camera, had you?"

"Oh, not enough to hurt them!" said was deeply stirred by the undertone the girl. "I just lifted up the black paper from each plate just the littlest crack in the world. The Boer is the ideal pioneer. From the days of the great trek, in 1837, and even before that he opened up countries hitherto unexplored by a white man. A great deal of fuss has been made of mighty travelers, English and foreign, who have traversed Africa, to the vast pecuniary benefit of their publishers and with no small meed of fame to themselves, but there was scarcely one of the old voortrekkers and hunters of the forties and fifties who did not accomplish feats of endurance. pluck and lengthy travel which were ten times as trying.-London Mail.

BILLS OVER A CENTURY OLD

They Show Ten to Have Reen a Cambridge Student's Favorite Drink. There is a bill for groceries, etc., furnished for an undergraduate at Cambridge in the year 1788. The bill contains one or two items of furniture. Apparently the undergraduate took over rooms already furnished at a valuation, and certain articles had to be bought new, such as a hearth brush, a pail, a mop and a "Holland gotch." One knows not what this means, but it cost 2 shillings 9 pence (43 cents).

The undergraduate would seem at first sight to have consumed tea in a most reckless manner. On Oct. 24 he is charged 2 shillings for Hyson and 1 shilling 6 pence for Congo. On Nov. 1 he is charged 2 shillings for tea and business life will not permit the average on the same day, which looks odd, 6 man to take frequent outdoor exercise. shillings 6 pence for tea. #### SOME COVETED SCRAWLS.

Rare Autographs For Which Immense Prices Have Been Paid.

The most prized autographs in the world are those of Shakespeare. Only seven are claimed to exist, three signatures to his will (each with a different spelling), two to conveyances of property, one in the folio edition of his plays (doubtful) and one in a Tudor translation of Montaigne. This last is in the British museum and cost over 3,000 guineas.

One thousand guineas was the price given by the late Mr. Alfred Morrison of Carlton House terrace for an autograph letter written by Marie Stuart to the archbishop of Guise. This and two other letters (one to the pope and the other to the king of France) were written by the unfortunate queen of Scots on the morning of her execution. The letter to the French king was destroyed during the days of the terror, while that to the pope is still preserved at the Vatican.

The well known bookseller Bernard Quaritch gave £1,000 for an autograph of Columbus, which was exhibited at the World's fair at Chicago. A Chicago autograph dealer is said to have offered to give $100,000, or over £20,-000, for a genuine autograph of Shakespeare if brought to him within a year of making his offer. It was a safe bluff, for since the tragic fate of STAMPS Chatterton no forger has cared to tackle the quaint scrawl of the Bard of Avon.-Collier's Weekly.

Jimmy and the Baby.

Jimmy's mother kept cows and sold milk. Jimmy himself had nothing to do with the cows, though sometimes he used to carry the milk pail to his mother's customers. The customers all liked Jimmy, with his round, freckled face and bashful grin, and they used to ask him how business was, for, although Jimmy was only 13 years old. he had a business. He made coffinsbaby coffins-and sold them to the undertaker. They were nice pine coffins, with all the edges carefully joined. Jimmy received 50 cents for each one.

One day Jimmy stopped at the house of one of his mother's customers to leave some milk. A little boy met him at the door.

"We've got a new baby!" said the little boy. "Would you like to see it?" Jimmy nodded. The little boy's aunt laughingly led Jimmy to the cradle where the new baby was. Jimmy gazed at the infant for some time. speechless with admiration or some such emotion.

"What do you think of it, Jimmy?" asked the aunt.

Jimmy grinned.

POSITIONS IN SLEEP.

HOW VICTIMS OF INSOMNIA MAY WOO SWEET SLUMBER.

The Way One Should Lie in Bed In Order to Obtain Natural Repose. Various Ailments and the Postures Best Adapted to Them.

Positions that woo sleep in victims of insomnia is an interesting study made by a well known metropolitan physician, Whitman V. White of Brooklyn. Dr. White is a specialist on nervous diseases and in a mild but emphatic manner scores his professional brethren for their free administration of narcotics. He denounces the practice as unnecessarily taxing on the disorganized systems of insomnia patients in many cases. In his own experience he has found a simple method adequate without weakening after effects likely to produce increased symptoms.

"Through a study based on the laws of physiology in human anatomy extending over a period of a dezen or more years I have learned that under certain physical malconditions," said the physician, "the subject may be given relief by assuming positions at rest that will from the ease afforded the affected parts serve as a natural somnolent agency. It will be readily understood that a constrained position will tend to prevent natural repose. while a comfortable one will woo it. But what may in most cases seem to be a position of ease may in reality be the reverse.

"For instance, a dyspeptic will rest more easily lying on the right side for the simple reason that in that position, the food naturally gravitates out of the stomach and into the intestines, while if lying on the opposite side that organ, in its weakened state, has to perform an uphill process of digestion. This is amply sufficient to produce in-

"Lying flat on the back, with the limbs relaxed, would seem to secure the greatest amount of rest for the muscular system, whether in good health or illness. Such is the position advocated by physicians generally in the most exhausting diseases, and it is hailed as a sign of rapid recovery when a patient exhibits an inclination to turn on either side. But at the same Milton Williams, D. Broken Down From His Fearful Hardships.

MIRACULOUSLY ESCAPED DEATH.

Filipino Had Orders to Shoot Party, but Left Them to Starve or Be Taken by Savages-The Rescue-Aguinaldo Was Kind-Mistreated by Tino.

MANILA, Jan. 8 .- Lieutenant Gilmore of the United States gunboat Yorktown, who came on the steamer Venus from Vigan, province of South Ilocos, with 19 other American prisoners, including seven of his sailors from all their effects and Lieutenant Gilmore the Yorktown, although tanned and some valuable papers. Only 14 out of ruddy from exposure, is weak and nerwous, showing the result of long hardships. He spoke warmly of Aguinaldo and very bitterly against General Tino, when the Americans approached, Lieudeclaring that while in the former's jur- tenant Gilmore said: isdiction he was treated splendidly, but that after he fell into Tino's hands he suffered everything.

Lieutenant Gilmore, after reporting, came ashore and hobbled along, with the aid of a cane, to the Hotel Oriente, where American officers and ladies were waltzing through the halls to the strains of "Aguinaldo's March."

Lieutenant Gilmore, who was captured by the insurgents last April, near Baler, on t e e st coast of Luzon, was rescued by Colonel Luther R. Hare of the Thirty-tnird volunteer infantry. The next day, after his arrival the night before, in the apartment of his sister, Mrs. Major Price, at the Hotel Oriente, in Manila, he told a remarkable story of his eight months captivity, ending with his dramatic deliverance from a death that seemed inevitable.

Colonel Hare and Lieutenant Colonel Howze, the latter of the Thirty-fourth volunteer infantry, rescued Gilmore's the Abalut river, after they had been abandoned by the Filipinos and were as well as lack of food." expecting death from the savages around them. When the rescuing force reached them they were nearly starved, but were building rafts in the hope of getting down the river to the coast.

Lieutenant Gumore made the following statement:

Abalut river, near its source, that morn ing and the Filipinos rafted us over. We then went down the stream, along a rough trail, guarded by a company of Filipinos. That night we were separated from this guard, and another comcharge of us. I suspected something, and questioned the lieutenant in command. He said: 'I have orders to shoot shall leave you here. "I begged him for two rifles to protect us from savages, adding that I would give him letters to the Americans, who would pay him well and keep him from all harm. He refused this, however, saying that he would not dare to comply. Soon afterward he left with his company.

you all, but my conscience forbids. I

"We had seen some savages in war paint around us, and we prepared to fight them with cobble stones, the only weapons that were available to us. The next morning we followed the trail of | the Filipino soldiers, feeling that it was better to stick to them than to be murdered by savages, but we could not catch up with them. Then I ordered the men to build rafts, in the hope of floating down the river. It was a forlorn hope, but I knew the river must empty into the sea somewhere. I was so weak myself that I did not expect to | Sackett of the Third infantry, Leland get out, but I thought some of the men "On the morning of Dec. 18, while we were working on the rafts, the Americans came toward us yelling. One of my men shouted "they are on us." He was lashing a raft of bamboos. I, however, knew it was not the yell of savages, but the yell of Americans. The rescuing troops thought we had Filipino guards and called to us to lie down so that they could shoot the Filipinos. That was the finest body of officers and men I ever saw.

Lieutenant Gilmore could not speak enthusiastically enough about the 140 picked men who had rescued him and

The command spent the day in making rafts. Colonel Hare thought Lieuteant Gilmore too weak to live through the trip, but there was no alternative. They shot many rapids, the men losing

LIEUTENANT GILMORE.

37 rafts survived the first night's experience and 80 men were practically unable to walk when Vigan was reached.

Describing the flight from Benguet

"The Filipines, completely terrified, left Benguet on Dec. 7. They hurried the prisoners from town to town, often retracing the trail, not knowing where the Americans would attack. After being almost without food for three days, they killed several horses and we lived on horse flesh for several days. I didn't have a full meal from Dec. 7 until I reached Vigan. Indeed the rescuing party lived largely upon rice without salt. There was one day when was reduced to chewing grass and

"While we were in the hands of General Tino's men he issued an order that any person aiding an American by food or money should be treated as a criminal. One citizen of Vigan, Senor Vera, was probably killed for befriending us. We would have starved but for the kindness of some of the presidents of the towns and some of the Filipino colonels, but others treated us brutally. Wherever there was a prison we were kept there. When there was no prison party on Dec. 18, near the headwaters of they would lodge us in a convent. We suffered greatly from want of exercise

For weeks Lieutenant Gilmore was covered with boils and in great pain. When the Filipinos found the Americans were approaching the treatment became better. There was a sign painter in the party and he painted advertisements on the rocks throughout "The Filipinos abandoned us on the the retreat, with other emblems like a night of Dec. 16. We had reached the skull and the word "vengeance," by means of which the Americans were able to follow.

"The Filipino treatment of the Spanjards," said Lieutenant Gilmore, "was brutal in the extreme. The insurgents had old grudges to wipe out against pany, armed with Mausers, was put in them. Many talk about the reconcentrados in Cuba, but I have seen Spaniards dying at the rate of two or three per day of starvation in the hospitals at Vigan. I have seen Tagalo officers strike Spaniards in the face with whips and revolvers."

Lieutenant Gilmore declined to speak regarding political conditions, except to say that he thought the insurrection would last as iong as there were any Tagalos leit.

The members of the party reported to General Otis this morning. They were barefooted, sunburned and ragged. Some carried rifles, others pet monkeys. They attracted a great deal of attention as they passed along the streets. Those whose enlistments are about expiring will be sent to the United States. The others will be returned to their respective organizations.

Among the prisoners arriving with Lieutenant Gilmore were F. J. Hubert, Edward Burke and J. J. Farley, sailors from the Urdaneta; Von Galen of the Baltimore, A. H. Gordon and George Smith and Frank Stone of the signal corps, Henry Huber of the hospital corps, William Bruce and Edward Honeyman of the Nevada cavalry, Martin Brennan and James Curran of the Sixteenth infantry, Albert Bishop of the David Brown, civilians.

Brown, who was formerly a preacher in Honolulu, twice revealed to the insurgents plots of the Americans to escape, in the hope of gaining the good will of the Filipinos. The rest of the party openly accused him of treachery and entertained the bitterest feelings toward him. Charles Baker of the Third artillery was formerly one of the prisoners, but became too weak to travel and the Filipino guards bayoneted him during the last flight through the mountains.

The prisoners of Lieutenant Gilmore's The prisoners of Eleutenant Gilmore's party, who escaped after leaving Vigan were MacDonald of the Twenty-first intantry, Von Galen of the Baltimore and Farley of the Oregon. They were and Farley of the Oregon. They were captured by the savages, recaptured by the insurgence, who had stripped and prepared to beat them, and ultimately Attack on Ladysmith Repulsed rescued by the Americans.

The Yorktown's men who were rescued with Lieutenant Gilmore were W. Walton, chief quartermaster; vandeit, sailmaker's mate; J. Ellsworth, coxswain; L. P. Edwards, landsman; A. J. Peterson, apprentice; F. Anderson, landsman, and S. Briscloso, seaman.

At Baler, J. Dillon, landsman, and C. A. Morrisey, landsman, were instantly killed; O. B. McDonaid, seaman, and E. J. Nygara, gunner's mate, were mortally wounded, and D. W. A. Venville, apprentice, and O. W. Woodbury, seaman, were seriously wounded.

Occurred In the City, While There Wereber of Deaths Occurred In February and the Births In March.

During the year ending Dec. 31, 1899, 196 deaths occurred in the city and 406 births are recorded. The deaths are divided as follows: Males, 105; females. 91. The births: Males, 210; females, 196. Taken by the month the deaths reguarantee absolute satisfaction to patsulted as follows: January, 24; males, rons. Mr. C. F. Lancaster has charge 12; females, 12. February, 35; males, 16; females, 19. March, 12; males, 3; females, 9. April, 16; males, 11; females, 5. May, 11; males, 5; females, 6. June, 14; males, 10; females, 4. every particular. July, 19; males, 9; females, 10. August, 11; males, 8; females, 3. September, 15; males, 11; females, 4. October, 7; males, 5; females, 2. November, 13; males, 6; females, 7. December, 19; males, 9: females, 10.

The births were as follows: January, 27: males, 13: females, 14. February, 36; males, 20; females, 16. March, 45; males, 24; females, 21. April, 34; males, 20; females, 14. May, 41; males, 23; females, 18. June, 32; males, 16; females, 16. July, 33; males, 17; females. 16. August, 42; males, 25; females, 17. September, 32; males, 15; females, 17. October, 36; males, 14; females, 22; November, 29; males, 14; females, 15; December, 19; males, 9; females 10.

It will be noticed that the largest number of births occurred in March, (45), and the lowest number was in December, (19). The largest number of deaths occurred in February, (35), and the lowest number in October, (7). The above list was compiled from the monthly reports of Health Officer Ogden as presented to the board of health.

During the year the board of health held but four regular meetings. The board is scheduled to meet the first Friday of every month but it did not follow notes, one of $900 and one of $1,000. the schedule last year.

A curious thing in connection with the report is the fact that during the year just 14 more males were born than females and just 14 more males died than females, while the total deaths just equals the births of females, 196 There were just 210 more births than deaths or exactly the number of births of males during the year. The difference between the deaths and births of the females is 105, exactly the same as the deaths of males. Another thing is that there was just twice as many males born as died. In the month of December there was exactly the same number of births as deaths (19), and they were similarly divided, males, 9; females, 10.

HIS START IN LIFE.

A STORY THAT A DISCUSSION ON RELIGION BROUGHT OUT.

It Involved a Christian and an Infidel and a Most Remarkable Coincidence, and the Narrative Pointed a Moral as Well.

The question of religion came up the other day in the Busy Men's Lunch club, and old Parmesan, who is senior warden of St. Pecunia's church and therefore constitutes himself a defender of the faith, remarked, "You may say what you like, gentlemen, but a religious man is more apt to help those who need it than an infidel."

"I am a firm believer in Christianity," remarked Bilson, who has made a million or so in the Swamp during the last few years, "but I take exception to that statement. When it comes to helping a fellow who is down, it's about an even toss between a Christian and an infidel. You doubt it?" he continued as be saw old Parmesan shake his head. "Well, to prove what I say I will give you an episode in my own life. I came to New York in 1873 with no capital but a country made suit of clothes and a common school education. I was a lank looking young fellow, with 'hayseed' written all over me; but, like many another raw country lad, I was irresistibly attracted to the city, where I soon expected to strike the combination that would lead to fortune and fame. But before long my main thought was to keep from starving. I could get no work, and nobody would listen to me when I asked for it. I tried to keep up my courage, but in my heart I would have given anything to be back on the old farm

"Well, one day I grew especially desperate. The papers were full of the triumphant success of 'Billy, the Converted Bum,' who was holding revivals all over the country. And I asked myself why I, a clean, decent young fellow, who had never been a 'bum, should be allowed to starve, while 'Billy' was living on the fat of the land. At first the wild thought came into my head to start out myself on a career of cr-I mean of revivalism under the name of 'Charley, the Converted Boy Fiend,' and rake in the shekels like 'Billy.' But somehow I felt I couldn't get down as low as that. A brilliant thought struck me, however. I would state the whole thing in an advertisement, more to relieve my feelings than with any hope of getting

"So I scraped enough money together to insert the following in one of the papers: 'If I were a drunken "bum" just taken out of the gutter, scores of kind religious people would stretch out a hand to help me. But as I am long ago and endeavored to get some only a decent and self respecting young valuable snap shots had bad luck with man, with no vices or bad habits, I am her first pictures. There were funny great, cruel city.' And I added my when there was any picture at all, and initials and address.

"The next day I called to see if there might possibly be an answer and got two. The first one I opened read as her first negatives and who took the follows: 'I was touched by your usual precautions in loading the camstrange advertisement, as I myself was era and taking the plates. once in the same position. I found help through a noble Christian man, and if you will call and see me I will prove to you that there is a Christian who is able and willing to help you if you are worthy. Ask to see me personally, as I am sorry to say my partner is an infidel, and, though a good man, he might not be disposed to look at your case so kindly."

"My heart jumped with joy on reading this kind letter, and for a little while I forgot the other one. But I soon opened it and read as follows: 'I was deeply stirred by the undertone the girl. "I just lifted up the black of despair in your advertisement, as I was once as friendless as you are. I found a start in life through a noble man who, like myself, was an unbeliever. And if you will call and see me I will prove to you that there is an unbeliever who is both able and willing to give you a start in life if you are worthy. Ask to see me personally. as my partner is a Christian, and, though a good man, he might not be disposed to look on your case kindly."

"Wonderful coincidence, wasn't it? But the most wonderful part of the story is yet to be told. These two men were partners. Each one of them was trying to do a good deed without the knowledge of the other.

"The end of the story? Well, that was interesting and remarkable too. After trying in vain to decide to which of these two gentlemen I should make myself known I determined to see them together and read the two letters to them. I did so, and you ought to have seen the look of blank surprise that came over the faces of both men as they learned that, though differing so widely in creed, they were at one in acknowledging the religion of humanity. They were silent for a few momehts, and then the Christian, with tears in his eyes, grasped the hand of his partner and said:

"Brother, I have wronged you, for I have learned that, without knowing it. you are not far from the kingdom of

"'It is I who have wronged you,' exclaimed his partner, 'in assuming that you would not obey the teaching of your Master to feed the bungry and clothe the naked. Let us hereafter live as brothers indeed, even though we may not be able to profess the same creed. And may the unknown God whom ignorantly we worship accept us

"These two good men gave me a start and were my dearest friends until they died. The moral of it all? Well, I think there is more goodness in the world than can be enshriped in any creed. however true."-New York

Boers Great Pioneers.

The Boer is the ideal pioneer. From the days of the great trek, in 1837, and even before that he opened up countries hitherto unexplored by a white man. A great deal of fuss has been made of mighty travelers, English and foreign, who have traversed Africa, to the vast pecuniary benefit of their publishers and with no small meed of fame to themselves, but there was scarcely one of the old voortrekkers and hunters of the forties and fifties who did not accomplish feats of endurance, pluck and lengthy travel which were ten times as trying.-London Mail.

BILLS OVER A CENTURY OLD

They Show Tea to Have Reen a Cambridge Student's Favorite Drink. There is a bill for groceries, etc., furpished for an undergraduate at Cambridge in the year 1788. The bill contains one or two items of furniture. Apparently the undergraduate took over rooms already furnished at a valuation, and certain articles had to be bought new, such as a hearth brush, a pail, a mop and a "Holland gotch." One knows not what this means, but it cost 2 shillings 9 pence (43 cents).

The undergraduate would seem at first sight to have consumed tea in a most reckless manner. On Oct. 24 he is charged 2 shillings for Hyson and 1 shilling 6 pence for Congo. On Nov. 1 he is charged 2 shillings for tea and business life will not permit the average on the same day, which looks odd, 6 man to take frequent outdoor exercise. shillings 6 pence for tea. On the 9th of the month he buys a new teapot, the old one, one supposes, worn out with him and incite the vital organs of his body hard service. However, this tea lasts him till the end of the term, so that his tea costs bim for the two months no more than 11 shillings, or $2.75, and as the price of tea at this time varied from 8 shillings to about 25 shillings we may conclude that he got through

SOME COVETED SCRAWLS.

Rare Autographs For Which Immense Prices Have Been Paid.

The most prized autographs in the world are those of Shakespeare. Only seven are claimed to exist, three signatures to his will (each with a Steve almost strangled on a piece of different spelling), two to conveyances of property, one in the folio edition of his plays (doubtful) and one in a Tudor translation of Montaigne. This last is in the British museum and cost over 3,000 guineas.

One thousand guineas was the price given by the late Mr. Alfred Morrison of Carlton House terrace for an autograph letter written by Marie Stuart to the archbishop of Guise. This and two other letters (one to the pope and the other to the king of France) were written by the unfortunate queen of Scots on the morning of her execution. The letter to the French king was destroyed during the days of the terror, while that to the pope is still preserved at the Vatican.

The well known bookseller Bernard Quaritch gave £1,000 for an autograph of Columbus, which was exhibited at the World's fair at Chicago. A Chicago autograph dealer is said to have amateur who assisted in developing offered to give $100,000, or over £20,-000, for a genuine autograph of Shakespeare if brought to him within a year of making his offer. It was a safe bluff, for since the tragic fate of Chatterton no forger has cared to tackle the quaint scrawl of the Bard of Avon.-Collier's Weekly.

Jimmy and the Baby.

Jimmy's mother kept cows and sold milk. Jimmy himself had nothing to do with the cows, though sometimes he used to carry the milk pail to his mother's customers. The customers all liked Jimmy, with his round, freckled face and bashful grin, and they used to ask him how business was, for, although Jimmy was only 13 years old. he had a business. He made coffinsbaby coffins-and sold them to the undertaker. They were nice pine coffins, with all the edges carefully joined. Jimmy received 50 cents for each one.

One day Jimmy stopped at the house of one of his mother's customers to leave some milk. A little boy met him at the door.

"We've got a new baby!" said the little boy. "Would you like to see it?" Jimmy nodded. The little boy's aunt laughingly led Jimmy to the cradle where the new baby was. Jimmy gazed at the infant for some time. speechless with admiration or some such emotion.

"What do you think of it, Jimmy?" asked the aunt.

Jimmy grinned.

"I guess I'll have to make a nice little coffin when I go home," he said .-New York Commercial Advertiser.

In lieu of a life spent partly in the woods and on the water, a man must find some kind of medicine to tone up and invigorate to the faithful performance of their normal functions. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is the only thoroughly effective medicine for this purpose. Its principal action is upon the organs that feed the blood, the stomach, the large intestines and the liver. It facilitates the flow of the digestive juices in the stomach and the production of healthy chyle in large quantities in the large intestines. It invigorates the liver and purifies and enriches the blood. When the blood is rich and pure the old, inert tissues throughout the body healthy flesh tissues and nerve fibers. If a man's blood is filled with the rich, pure elements of health, he can get along with a scanty amount of exercise.

HOW VICTIMS OF INSOMNIA MAY WOO SWEET SLUMBER.

The Way One Should Lie In Bed In Order to Obtain Natural Repose. Various Ailments and the Postures Best Adapted to Them.

Positions that woo sleep in victims of insomnia is an interesting study made by a well known metropolitan physician, Whitman V. White of Brooklyn. Dr. White is a specialist on nervous diseases and in a mild but emphatic manner scores his professional brethren for their free administration of narcotics. He denounces the practice as unnecessarily taxing on the disorganized systems of insomnia patients in many cases. In his own experience he has found a simple method adequate without weakening after effects likely to produce increased symptoms.

"Through a study based on the laws of physiology in human anatomy extending over a period of a dezen or more years I have learned that under certain physical malconditions," said the physician, "the subject may be given relief by assuming positions at rest that will from the ease afforded the affected parts serve as a natural somnolent agency. It will be readily understood that a constrained position will tend to prevent natural repose, while a comfortable one will woo it. But what may in most cases seem to be a position of ease may in reality be the reverse.

"For instance, a dyspeptic will rest more easily lying on the right side for the simple reason that in that position; the food naturally gravitates out of the stomach and into the intestines, while if lying on the opposite side that organ, in its weakened state, has to perform an uphill process of digestion. This is amply sufficient to produce insomnia.

"Lying flat on the back, with the limbs relaxed, would seem to secure the greatest amount of rest for the muscular system, whether in good health or illness. Such is the position advocated by physicians generally in the most exhausting diseases, and it is hailed as a sign of rapid recovery when a patient exhibits an inclination to turn on either side. But at the same time there are several disadvantages in the supine posture which impair or | church of Chicago and for many years a embarrass sleep, whether in case of writer of theological works, died in this severe illness or ordinary health. "People who have contracted chests cannot sleep well lying upon their backs. This rule applies especially to those who have suffered with pleurisy and retain adhesions of the lungs. They will find it easier to get to sleep upon the right side and that their somnolent rest will do them more good if they observe this advice. Furthermore, the habit of lying on the back is the creator of snoring, which much belabors sleep and prevents the subject from participants seriously wounded. A glance at any plate of the visceral anatomy will show that when the body is thus placed the food in the process with the malady. of digestion is greatly aided in its passage from the stomach into the intestines. Here the principle of gravitation directly applies. Then the fact that the stomach doesn't compress the upper portion of the intestines is still wooing ease to the entire human mech- winds, becoming northwesterly and dianism is under serious consideration.

"In conclusion, I wish to refer to some injurious eccentricities, or fads, in sleeping which I have observed. A wealthy woman once came to me for treatment for bad dreams of the order commonly called nightmare. Upon making inquiry I discovered that she was in the habit of lying at rest with her arms thrown up over her head, a position greatly to be deprecated, although it will induce sleep in per sons who have weak lungs. The cir culation is thereby made stronger in the extremities, and the head and neck and muscles of the chest are drawn up and relaxed by the shoulders."-Philadelphia Times.

Lungs and Long Life.

One of the most remarkable cases of longevity on record was that of an Englishman, born in 1483, whose delicate appearance made all the doctors give him up when he was in the cradle. His chest was so narrow, says the report, that he seemed to have difficulty in breathing. Well, this young moribund, condemned by the doctors to die in short order, died in 1651 at the age of 169. He saw the reign of ten kings.

Secundi Hango, consul of Venice at Smyrna, measured only 57 centimeters around the chest, and one of his lungs was diseased. Nevertheless be fived to the age of 115 years. He was married five times and had 49 children. When he was 100 years old, he got his wisdom teeth. When he was 110, his hair turned black again. At 112 his eyebrows and his beard turned black.
